Make instant working electrical circuits with simple leads fitted with a tiny powerful magnet at either end. Place near to a battery case or a batten bulb holder connector for a simple magnetic connection that creates a working circuit. The magnets are 4mm diameter so will work where standard banana plugs work, such as power supplies, test meters and crocodile clips but have the advantage of making instant connections when near to steel connectors. Children no longer have to strip, cut or make mechanical fixes and leads can be daisy chained together to extend their length.
